

Master Naturalist Program: Service Project Presentations

November 18th from 4:00-7:00pm at the Bachechi Environmental Education Center

The Master Naturalist class of 2010 will present their service projects. Come learn about this exciting program and the difference participants make in their community through stewardship projects related to education and service dedicated to the beneficial management of natural resources.

Agenda:

4:00-5:00, Walking Tour of Bachechi Open Space

5:00-5:30, Food, Refreshments, and Mingling

5:30-6:30, Master Naturalist Presentations

6:30-7:00pm, Award Ceremony

Directions:

The Bachechi Open Space property is located at 9521 Rio Grande Boulevard, NW. However, participants need to park at the Alameda Open Space parking area located just west of Rio Grande Blvd. on the south side of Alameda. From the Alameda parking area, walk to the south east end of the wetlands, cross over the boardwalk and continue to the Bachechi Environmental Education Center. Call Colleen McRoberts if you have any questions or problems finding the Center at 681-2605.
